The studies performed by the researcher David Reardon have revealed that 67% of mothers having abortions have been coerced into doing so. The Profile organization, Priests for Life, has decided to try to protect these women's constitutional rights to keep their babies. This is a violation of privacy of these women. Many such women have come to Priests for Life sharing this problem and asking for help. Priests for Life is launching a campaign in which they seek legal duress in the courts; thus protecting the legal rights of the mother and the baby.
